

Europe Regional Medical Command

*"Caring for Our Nation's Best"
Medics Forward ... Any Mission, Anywhere!*

Medical Department Activity - Wuerzburg Commander

Born in Germany, Colonel Patricia K. Lillis-Hearne comes from a military family and is proud to note that her father was once part of the Big Red One! She received her undergraduate and medical education in South Carolina and commissioning through the Army Health Professions Scholarship Program. Her postgraduate medical education was at Brooke Army Medical Center at the University of California in San Francisco, and Seton Hall University.

Colonel Lillis-Hearne's military assignments have included a tour as staff internist at the 121st Evacuation Hospital in Korea, a staff officer, and later, Chief of Hematology/Oncology at Eisenhower Army Medical Center, Assistant Chief and later Chief of Radiation Oncology at Brooke Army Medical Center, Deputy Commander for Clinical Services at Medical Department Activity - Wuerzburg / 67th Combat Support Hospital and later Deputy Commander of Europe Regional Medical Command.

Her military education includes AMEDD Basic and Advanced Course, Command and General Staff College, the Advanced Trauma Life Saving (ATLS) Course, the Combat Casualty Care Course, and the Joint Medical Readiness Training "C4A" Course.

She is board certified in Internal Medicine, Medical Oncology, and Radiation Oncology. She has a Masters degree in Health Care Administration and is a member of the American College of Physician Executives, the American Society of Clinical Oncology, and American Society of Therapeutic Radiation and Oncology.